SECTION B: Literature Module

Attempt ALL questions. Each question is worth 10 marks, and should be about 150-200 words.

Instructions:

1. Do not use bullet points. Write full sentences and paragraphs.
2. Explain your ideas and examples fully and clearly.
3. Do not summarize the plot of a literary text. This adds nothing new. Your response should focus on your ideas and interpretations of the text.

? 1. In the words of Terry Eagleton,
"Part of what we mean by a 'literary' work is one in which what is said is to be taken in terms of how it is said. It is the kind of writing in which the content is inseparable from the language in which it is presented. Language is constitutive of the reality or experience, rather than simply a vehicle for it."

Use either "The Ones Who Walk Away from Omelas" or "There Will Come Soft Rains" and explain what Eagleton means.

? 2. What is the significance of the titles "There Will Come Soft Rains" and "The One Percent War"?

? 3. Define "fabula" and "syuzhet" using "The One Percent War" as an example.

? 4. How do different kinds of narration enable the way a story is told? Respond using "The Ones Who Walk Away from Omelas" and "There Will Come Soft Rains." Consider aspects such as the first/second/third person narrator and different levels and layers of story telling, such as who narrates and who speaks.
